

"Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin No.35" has been published

Like 6
Tweet 1

Global

Information

RSS

August 26, 2014

Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin is an email newsletter published quarterly, introducing Tokyo Tech's research, education and students' activities.

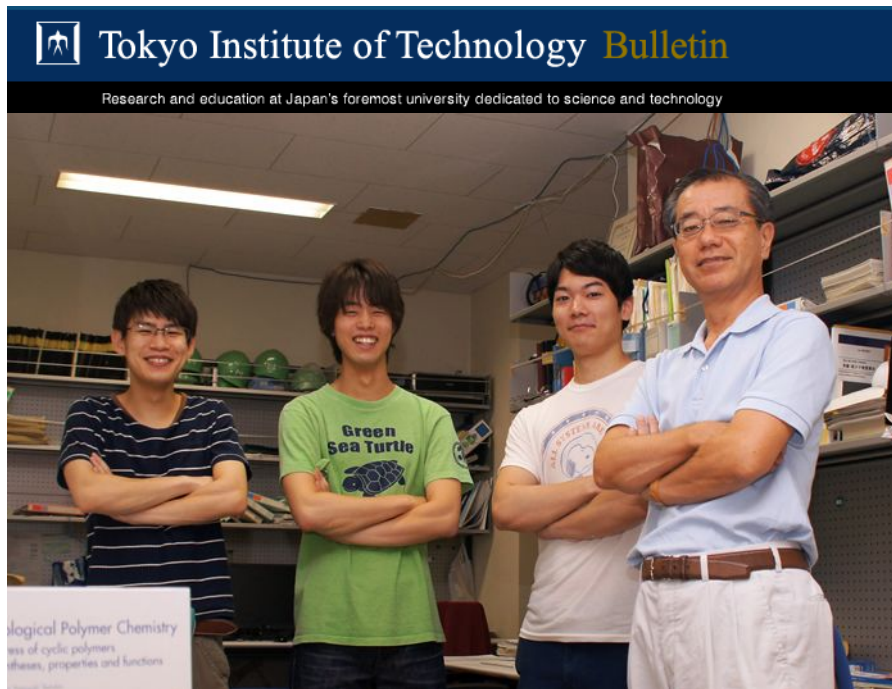

Now our latest edition, "Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin No.35" has been published.

If you wish to receive updates, please apply from the following form.

Registration to receive Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin

Back Number of Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin

Tokyo Institute of Technology Bulletin is an email newsletter provided in English, but all articles are available in both English and Japanese.

Topics

Materials scientists and mathematicians benefit from newly crafted polymers

FEATURE

Reports on Visits Abroad: Tokyo Tech's
Education Reform Efforts

Rikejo: Japan's Pioneering Women in Science

RECENT RESEARCH

Conductive nanofiber networks for flexible, unbreakable, and transparent electrodes

Microtomography of multiphase flows in porous media

Identifying heat distributions: Helping to understand curved space

Geological conditions and geotechnical characteristics of Phnom Penh subsoils in Cambodia

Factory transport conveyor: magic carpet powered by ultrasonic radiation force

News

Tokyo Tech Students Meet President Obama

Yoshinao Hashizima Ronald Gronsky Eric Grimson

International Symposium on Education
Reform: Videos and NIKKEI ASIAN REVIEW

TSUBAME-KFC supercomputer ranked No.1
in the world in two consecutive editions of the energy efficiency "Green500 List"

Through Students' Eyes

From Brazil to Japan - Beginning Studies and Making Friends at Tokyo Tech